While Adventure Delivered Daily™ is our tag line, supporting that is the “Built to Last” mindset that goes into every product we make in-house or offer for sale. Every year we get suppliers sending us samples and 99% of their sales pitch is some iteration of “This is cheaper than the item you carry”. As soon as we hear that, we go back to work. Just like you, we do not want cheap. We want the best.

Since our inception, we have been designing and making products in-house which is a unique approach for a small, niche business. Minimum run requirements and the high cost of tooling usually make that approach too expensive for self-funded start-ups. Fortunately, we had a day job that paid the bills so we could afford to break even during some of our formative years to achieve our long-term objectives. Initially, making our own products was not part of the plan. We can vividly recall coming back from Africa after using traditional wood shooting sticks for the first time and looking to buy a set online. When that search did not come up with any good solutions, we decided to make our own, and a company was born.

Ever since then, when we could not find items that met our specific design and quality requirements, we have designed them ourselves or built them in-house. Your support has made that approach possible as there are always significant up-front costs that must be covered. Designing your own products in leather or wood is costly, but once you start using metallic parts, it gets much more expensive.

Our new Fly’s Eye tripod is a good example of this. To patent, design and produce all the parts associated with this new model (one investment cast aluminum piece, two injection molded plastic sleeves, one stainless steel ball and post, and three machining operations) cost us just under $75,000. For a company our size, that is a big bite. The flip side of that is, in our humble opinion we have come up with a Best-in-Class product that we feel very comfortable covering with the only unconditional lifetime warranty in the business. Some say most strategies die with the first dollar, but we believe smart investments are absolutely essential to help you make the most of your safari experience. In hindsight, we were fortunate to take that approach almost two decades ago, as trying to sell “me-too” products in the age of Amazon would probably have been game over. Today, 90% of our sales are generated by products not available anywhere else in North America.

Your continued support during the COVID lock-down allowed us and our key suppliers to stay financially sound during very difficult times. On behalf of us all, thank you for your continued loyalty. We look forward to seeing you at the DSC and SCI shows in January!

Good Hunting!

CHRIS DORSEY - AUG 3, 2021

Into Africa - The Return of Safari... Now What To Wear?

Courteney Selous Boots JOHN MACGILLIVRAY, DORSEY PICTURES

Courteney Selous Boots...the quintessential African footwear.

The Selous has been worn by rangers, safari guides, researchers and others who wanted to make sure they could out-run others in their party for decades. Buffalo leather also absorbs and releases moisture, which makes it ideal for both summer's heat and winter's cold...and if you get too close to one and wet yourself. Buffalo hide also does not stretch yet becomes more supple with time. Want to know the hide is authentically Cape buffalo? Just look for the scars in the leather, most likely a lion's autograph.

Buy them at African Sporting Creations, a company that has assembled a collection of some of the most interesting, useful, and ingenious products for the modern traveler and sportsman.

PETERSEN'S HUNTING

Best New Knives for 2019

Joseph von Benedikt - February 05, 2019

Even if it weren't the alphabetical first, I'd have put this knife at the top and given it a "best of the best" endorsement. Handmade in South Africa by a group of brothers, these Arno Bernard Dagga Boy drop point knives feature spectacular Bohler N690 surgical stainless steel hafted in Cape buffalo horn and warthog ivory. Perfectly balanced, they come incredibly sharp—as in scalpel sharp. Marketed exclusively through African Sporting Creations, each costs $399—and is worth more. This is a knife with which you can skin a thousand whitetails, plus all the moose, brown bear, kudu and buffalo you please, and then hand it down to your kids in perfect condition.

GUNS&AMMO

Essentials For An African Safari

Remembering the safari of a lifetime should go beyond taking pictures and hunting game. In preparation, G&A believes that you should take gear that will enable a safe and successful adventure while embracing Africa's romance. May we suggest starting at African Sporting Creations for unique, hand-made products that embody the ruggedness of Africa? Among the many items the company offers, there are four items we feel no hunter shouldn't leave home without: shooting sticks, a good sling, an Arno Bernard knife and Courteney boots.

Courteney boots come in various styles and are made from Nile crocodile, Cape buffalo, hippo, or ostrich leather. The most popular boot is the Selous, named after legendary explorer, conservationist, hunter and soldier Frederick Courteney Selous. These boots are constructed entirely from buffalo and impala, and hand stitched in Zimbabwe. The sole is made of a rubber "tyre" tread, and is highly regarded for producing little-to-no noise in the bush.

One item African Sporting Creations is best known for are their shooting sticks. Made in-house of hickory, carbon fiber, or select, limited-edition African woods, the sticks feature leather-wrapped tops hand-sewn from buffalo or zebra leather. The leather improves grip while protecting the rifle's forend when it's time to shoot. Anodized aluminum connectors assemble quickly and the sticks can be stored for transport in a provided canvas carry case.

No safari rifle is complete without a sling and no pair of binoculars should be either. The company offers a canvas and leather bino sling from Els & Co. The strap assembly is comfortable with three traditional brass studs that push into eyelets for adjusting to improve weight distribution.

Knives are a collector's favorite and African Sporting Creations is the U.S. master distributor for Arno Bernard knives featuring handles made of buffalo horn and warthog tusk. They also make great gifts to leave behind with your professional hunter or trackers who share your experience.

Most of the products you'll find at africansc.com are available nowhere else, just like your memories.

FLY'S EYE® TRIPOD

FLY'S EYE® TRIPOD

This new model is engineered to deliver unmatched support and pinpoint accuracy by offering twice as many points of contact. It offers best-in-class performance due to the intuitive design, rugged construction, ability to change the point of impact without repositioning, compactness when taken apart, light weight and quietness — all backed by the only unconditional lifetime warranty in the business. This tripod is handcrafted in our Ohio workshop and is the only product of its type made in the USA.

No expense was spared to build the best product possible.

- The pivot head utilizes an investment-grade aluminum casting sleeved with an indestructible polymer that fully encases the stainless steel pivot ball. The rear support arm opens up to create a 20" span between the two points of contact. This length is ideal for double rifles, single shots, and bolt actions. The cable that connects the two sections is just one of several failsafes incorporated into this model.
- The optional one-piece suede leather bridge top and rear support arm allows you to shift your fore end to move the point of impact approximately 50' at 100 yards to follow moving game without repositioning the sticks.
- If you do not have the extra few seconds to deploy the rear support arm or are taking a close shot and do not need it, you can use this set as a traditional tripod as the rear support arm sits below the front bridge tops.
- The rear support arm "V" is designed to go behind the pistol grip of the rifle. Do not put it directly behind the trigger guard as it is not designed to be used from that position.
- When in use, the spread between the bottom legs on the ground is approximately 4' to allow the rear support arm "V" to spread out far enough to securely hold the rifle stock behind the pistol grip.
- Do not crouch behind the sticks as that will put your eye too close to the scope. The legs are made long enough so you can stand relatively upright to avoid "scope eye."
- They hold even the largest NE rifles in place during recoil for quick follow-up shots.
- Much quieter and lighter at 3.5 lbs. than similar aluminum models.

ADVANTAGES VERSUS OTHER MODELS

- Easy to adjust — no protruding buttons under tension that all have to be depressed or sleeve you have to carry in the field.
- Heavy-duty construction for extreme rigidity.
- Keeping downward pressure on the optional one-piece suede leather bridge top and rear support arm “V” allows you to adjust point of impact without repositioning.
- Lighter weight – approximately 3.5 pounds versus up to more than 5 lbs. for competitive models.
- Quiet, with no hollow aluminum tubes to conduct sound.
- More compact when taken apart as longest section is only 38” in length.
- Nothing permanently affixed to your rifle that makes it difficult to sling or carry.
- Covered by the only unconditional lifetime warranty in the industry with local spare parts.

Please go to our website for additional product details, setup instructions and how to change your point of impact without repositioning.

SIZES: MEDIUM-XXL

- Medium fits 5’5” - 5’8” in height and are 68” long when assembled. The longest section is 38” when taken apart for transportation. Call us if you need a shorter size.
- Large fits 5’9” - 6” in height and are 70” long when assembled and the longest section is 38” when taken apart for transportation.
- XL fits 6’1” - 6’3” in height and are 72” long when assembled. The longest section is 38” when taken apart for transportation.
- XXL fits 6’4”+ in height and are 74” long when assembled. The longest section is 38” when taken apart for transportation.

PRICES

- Base model with oak shafts, non-anodized silver pivot head, traditional circular leather tops and no case. – $499

AFRICAN SHOOTING STICKS

SHOOTING STICKS: FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

■ How quickly do they ship?

We ship stock Shooting Stick orders the next business day. If you “Build your Own” and/or want the connector engraved with a name or initials, it will add 5 business days to the delivery time.

■ What size should I order?

We provide size information based on your height. If you are between sizes or plan to take steep uphill shots, (need them longer to avoid scope eye) we recommend the next larger size. You can always work with a set that is a little too long. If they are too short, in addition to the risk of “scope eye”, the “V” at the top that supports the fore end will be too narrow. Since it will not be wider than your fore end, the far leg has a tendency to kick out during recoil.

■ What are the most rigid models you offer?

All of the models offered are very rigid. Keep in mind that you do not have to press your rifle down into them to improve accuracy. They are simply a rest for your rifle and another point of contact. If you exert a lot of downward pressure, your muscles will fatigue and your groups will actually get larger.

■ How long are they when taken apart?

All of our models unscrew and can fit in a full-length rifle case. Larges range from 36-38” and XL range from 38-40” long. If you are traveling with a take-down case or want to put them in a duffel bag, then our large or XL SuperCompacts will fit in either with an ID length of at least 28.25.”

■ How much do they weigh?

Domestic wood, large-sized sticks weigh approximately 2.5 pounds. Exotic wood sticks weigh a half-pound more due to their greater density, but this is still less than most premium aluminum tripods. SuperCompact Hickory domestics weigh approximately 3 pounds (Featherweights weigh ½ pound less) due to the extra set of connectors which increase their versatility and allow them to unscrew to a shorter length.

■ Do you repair them?

Yes, but we have had to do this less than a dozen times in 15 years. If you need a repair, simply send them back with a note explaining what you need done. If you need parts you have lost or worn out, simply order them online.

SILVER AFRICAN SHOOTING STICKS

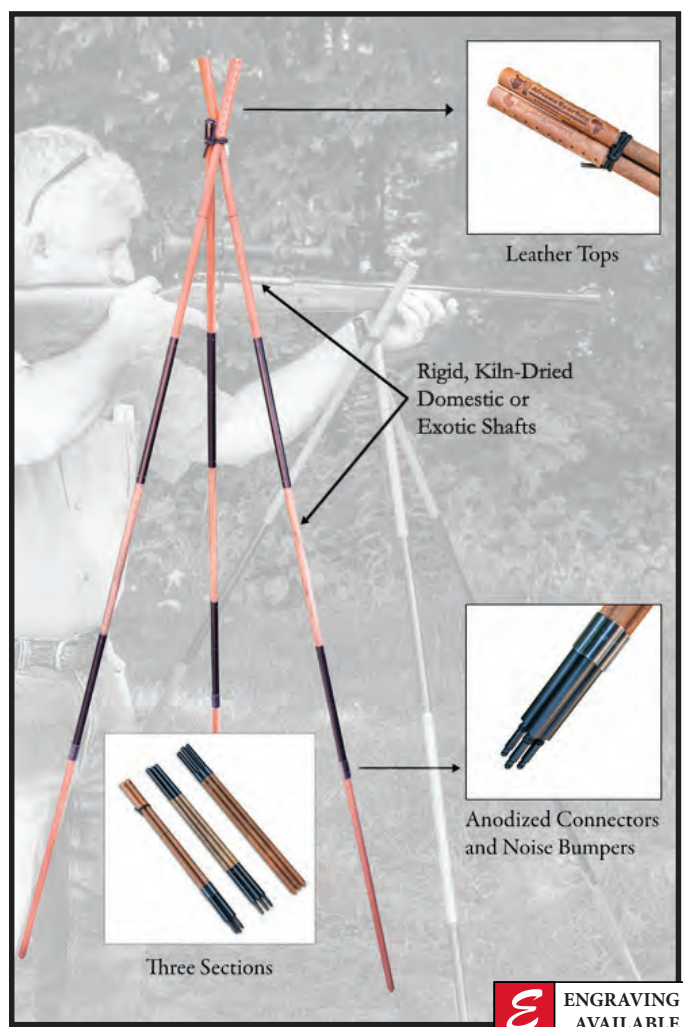

These are just as functional as the Platinum exotic wood ones, but without all the bells and whistles. Shafts are Hickory, a tough, rigid wood used for axe handles, and these are combined with anodized take-down connectors. They include one set of hand-sewn leather tops and a canvas carrying case. These are the same version Dirk de Bod, the SCI and DSC PH of the Year, has been using for the past 10 years.

Standards: for 73” and shorter hunters - $239

XL: for hunters 74”+ - $265

SUPERCOMPACTS & CARBON FIBER STICKS

SUPERCOMPACTS are our most versatile shooting sticks. Use the top section alone to shoot from the prone position. Connect the top section to the bottom ones, which feature quiet wood points, to shoot from the kneeling position or to make a 48" walking staff for navigating rough terrain. Use all three sections to shoot from the standing position.

To make sure you can plant them in the ground, pointed tips are always facing down whether you use one, two, or all three sections. The shorter wood sections make these sticks even more rigid than our other models. They are also ideal for those who like to travel with their firearms incognito in a shorter take-down case (Blaser®, double rifles) and need a more compact set of shooting sticks. Instead of one set of anodized take-down connectors, these have two.

Featherweights-Weigh approximately 2.5 lbs. and use light-weight but very rigid exotic African hardwood for the top and bottom sections. Hickory stained, a medium brown color is used for the middle sections. – $429

Standards-Larges weigh approximately 3.0 lbs. and are hickory stained medium brown. – $379

Medium size fits hunters 62"-67", and the longest section measures 26"
Large size fits hunters 68"-73", and the longest section measures 26"
XL fits hunters above 74", and the longest section measures 28.25"
 (will fit in a Blaser® case) Engrave your name on the connector for $49.

AFRICAN SHOOTING STICKS

Many years ago we only offered one product: African Shooting Sticks. We set out to make the best sticks available, and the rest of our business developed from that first initial product.

Our typical customer purchases up to a half-dozen less expensive aluminum shooting sticks before they finally invest in a set of ours. While our sticks “cost more,” they will save you money over the long run, and your grandchildren will be proud to use them one day.

The connector is the strongest component on our Shooting Sticks because it is milled from a solid block of aircraft aluminum and has three points of contact for unmatched strength. The adjustment mechanism on competitors’ Shooting Sticks are usually the weakest component because they rely on plastic or thin stamped metal pieces. This explains why they typically offer a one-year limited warranty versus our unconditional lifetime warranty.

In addition to being strong, our sticks are also stealthy. The most unnatural sound in the wild is a metallic one. Our competitors use a hollow aluminum tube with pointed metal bottoms that can make noise and scare off game. Our solid wood shafts and pencil sharpened wood or polymer bottoms are the quietest on the market, helping you get in close.

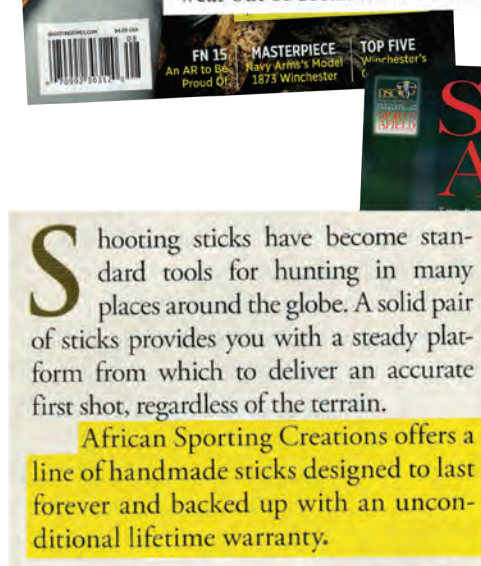

No one ever regretted owning the very best, and our Shooting Sticks have earned a cult-like following among PH’s and serious hunters all over the world. Read for yourself why people who hunt for a living (or live to hunt) consider them to be beyond compare!

UNCONDITIONAL LIFETIME
WARRANTY

Absolutely the finest sticks available today are made by African Sporting Creations. Custom built for your height, they are available in various exotic hardwoods; are fitted with buffalo, zebra, or other exotic leather; and can be engraved with your name. While you might think they’d be heavy, they’re actually lighter than competing metal and plastic versions, and they are far more durable. I’ve broken a few sets of modern sticks and have seen many more broken, but even African PHs, who work their shooting sticks incredibly hard year-round, don’t wear out or break those made by African Sporting Creations.

Shooting sticks have become standard tools for hunting in many places around the globe. A solid pair of sticks provides you with a steady platform from which to deliver an accurate first shot, regardless of the terrain.

African Sporting Creations offers a line of handmade sticks designed to last forever and backed up with an unconditional lifetime warranty.

Expeditions & Guides

I am a firm believer in “African style shooting sticks” and have been using sticks from African Sporting Creations for several seasons. This year African Sporting Creations’ screw-in tripod has become a permanent part of my gear. I took them to Pakistan in January where I used them “short” to take a Sind Ibex and “long” to take a Himalayan Ibex at long range in deep snow. Right now I am in Argentina – and you can bet my sticks are here with me!

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

■ What type of steel is used?

Stainless Steel knives are made with Bohler N690, a high quality stainless steel which is then heat treated and tempered, that hardens the blade to a 59-60 on the Rockwell hardness scale. This level of hardness holds an edge very well, but is not so hard that it is brittle or difficult to sharpen. Damascus knives utilize Damasteel® stainless steel which is the best that money can buy.

■ How quickly do you ship?

We stock over 300 knives to ensure almost all stock knife orders ship the next business day.

■ How are the knives sharpened?

Each one is hollow ground (done on a wheel) by hand, by Franco Bernard.

■ Can I get the lucky recipient's name or initials engraved on the knife?

Yes, you can get any stainless steel knife with a mammoth handle (Inner tusk or molar) engraved for only $49. Please note this adds about a week to the delivery time, and once a knife is personalized we are unable to accept returns. Due to the striations on the Damascus knives, we do not offer engraving on them.

■ What if I lose my sheath?

We inventory almost all sheaths, and you can simply order a replacement online, or over the phone. Go online to see what model you have as these are ordered by the knife's model number.

ARNO BERNARD® RINKHALS SLIP JOINT KNIVES

RINKHALS SLIP JOINT FOLDER

A

Mammoth Molar

B

Desert Ironwood

C

Ivory Warthog Tusk

D

Kudu Horn

This Arno Bernard knife takes you back to a simpler time when your first pocket knife opened and closed without any locking mechanism. This updated version of the classic slip joint is 6.5" overall with a 2.8" blade and a full sized 3.7" frame with a 2.8" handle inlay. It features a beautiful design with a versatile RWL34 stainless steel blade, a nail nick for easy opening, and a thumb notch for comfort. Just like your old Buck®, Western® or Case®, the blade features a mirror finish. The hand-sewn, leather slip protects it in your pocket, and the matching bead attached to the leather lanyard makes it easy to access. This lightweight knife sheds ounces by using Titanium for the frame, pocket clip, collar and screws, and only weighs 2.3 ounces!

The slip joint mechanism of this knife features an innovative "safety" when it is halfway open which causes the blade to be under very little tension, so it is easy to move your fingers out of the way before tension builds again and assists you in closing (or opening) the knife. Most slip joint knives have continuous tension throughout their entire range, which in some cases causes the blade to close before you can get your fingers out of the way. Since this knife does not have a mechanism that locks it open, always cut with the blade moving away from you to prevent injury.

There are four natural choices for handle inlays;

If there was a “Best Knife” classification like there is for British Best Guns, the new Arno Bernard imamba® folding knife would fall into that category. Just like “Best Guns”, what you see is only part of the equation. What you do not see is just as important, and in some cases, even more important than the visible attributes. A rounded opening tab on the top of the blade enables one-handed opening, and a deep nail notch allows 2-handed opening.

Today, 99% of folding knives are taken off machines and assembled from machine-made parts. In direct contrast to that, the Arno Bernard flipper has all four brothers’ fingerprints all over it. The metallic tolerances they achieve are less than 1/100th of a millimeter – one-tenth the thickness of a piece of paper. Each blade is hand-polished to a mirror finish to highlight any areas that require additional attention. After that, it is put into a tumbler with ceramic media to produce a satin gloss finish, and then sharpened by hand. This produces the shiny razor-sharp hollow ground edge contrasting against the satin gloss body of the blade.

As with all great products, the process starts with the finest materials. The blade is made from RWL 34 stainless steel, the frame and pocket clip are titanium, and the pocket clip has no external screws for a clean visual. This large folder measures 7.9” overall with a 4.1” frame, 3.4” deep bellied blade and weighs only 4.3 ounces.

The locking mechanism is lapped by hand until the two surfaces engage at 100% for unmatched strength. It is extremely durable and made to last a lifetime. Premium friction-free ceramic ball bearings make the action as smooth as glass and contribute to the durability of this new offering. The pocket clip is a new design that is comfortable to hold in the hand, a feature that many people on knife forums put on their “wish list.”

The four handle inlay choices are shown from top to bottom: fossilized mammoth molar (A) – $749
dyed ivory warthog tusk – $599 | Kudu horn – $579 | carbon fiber snakewood pattern – $559

Please check that this item can be legally purchased and possessed by you under applicable federal, state, county, city and local laws. It is your responsibility to check these laws before making your purchase. Go to our website www.africansc.com for additional legal and warranty information.

THE COURTENNEY® BOOT COMPANY

THE COURTENNEY® BOOT COMPANY: FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

■ How quickly do they ship?

Almost all stock Courtenney® orders ship the next business day. We stock more than 20 styles and over 400 pairs in Ohio. Even if we do not have the exact model you want, we can send you something very similar, if you need them quickly.

■ Do you accept custom orders?

Yes, please see our Build Your Own Exotic Boot section for details. If you want a boot built to your particular specifications, you can expect delivery in approximately 120-150 days.

■ What size should I order?

If you are a current Courtenney® owner, order the UK size stamped in the top right and left hand corner of the logo patch located above the heel. If this is your first pair, simply provide your US size and we will send you the equivalent UK size. All the styles we offer are available in half sizes.

■ How are the men's styles cut?

The boots run wide so if you have a wide foot (EE) they will fit you right out of the box. If you have a regular width foot (D width), then order one of the several styles we offer in that width.

■ Do they have a lot of arch support?

They are cut relatively flat. If you have a pronounced arch, we recommend you order a set of our SOLE insoles which quickly mold to your feet. The medium red insoles typically take up about a half size so we suggest ordering your boots a half-size larger. If you are "between" sizes, the thin gray insoles usually take up any extra space.

■ What socks do you recommend?

We recommend the thick Rohner Trekking socks from Switzerland. They are heavily cushioned and the Merino wool wicks moisture away from your feet.

■ Are Courtenney® Boots waterproof?

All of the Courtenney boots are treated to be water repellent but they are not waterproof. The application of the Courtenney conditioner will keep them water repellent. Due to the hot temperatures in Africa, these boots are designed to breathe so that moisture does not accumulate and cause blisters. To be truly waterproof, you need some type of membrane (for example, GORE-TEX) but boots with that type of material are typically too hot for Africa as they do not allow moisture to evaporate freely.

■ Do you offer ladies' styles?

Yes, we offer three different ladies' styles but you can custom order anything you want with a 120-150 day delivery time.

■ What is your return policy?

Try any boot we stock in your home and if you need a different size or want to return them, just send them back unworn and put a note in the box telling us how you would like to proceed. No return authorization is required.

There are two styles of earrings you can choose from: wider hoops with three stands of horn inlaid between silver borders; and narrower hoops twisting one strand of horn around one strand of silver.
